

JOCELYN BOITEAU

Division of Nutritional Sciences
Cornell University
Ithaca, NY 14853

Cell: (+1) 774-230-4355
Email: jmb575@cornell.edu
<https://www.human.cornell.edu/people/jmb575>

Education

2021 (expected) Ph.D., Nutritional Sciences, Cornell University
2013 Commission on Dietetic Registration Examination for Registered Dietitians
2013 Dietetic Internship, Brigham and Women's Hospital
2012 B.S. Nutritional Sciences, Cornell University

Concentrations

International Nutrition, Food Science, Methods of Social Research

Professional Positions

Project Administrator, Food Aid Quality Review, Tufts University (2016)
Research Coordinator, Food Aid Quality Review, Tufts University (2014-2015)

Publications

Rogers, B. L., Wilner, L. B., Maganga, G., Walton, S. M., Suri, D. J., Langlois, B. K., Chui, K. K. H., Boiteau, J. M., Vosti, S. A., & Webb, P. (2017). Program changes are effective and cost-effective in increasing the amount of oil used in preparing corn soy blend porridge for treatment of moderate acute malnutrition in Malawi. Maternal & Child Nutrition, 13(4), e12393.

Rogers, B. L., Webb, P., Boiteau, J., Langlois, B., Maganga, G., & Walton, S. (2017). Preparation and presentation of corn-soy blend for moderately malnourished children in Malawi. Field Exchange 55, 26.

Conference Presentations

2020 Agriculture, Nutrition & Health Academy Week (Online)

Teaching Assistantships

Spring 2018 Applied Dietetics in Food Service Systems, Emily Gier, Cornell University
Fall 2017 Toward a Sustainable Global Food System: Food Policy for Developing Countries, Prabhu Pingali, Cornell University
Spring 2017 Introduction to Global Health, Jeanne Moseley, Cornell University
Fall 2016 Explorations in Global and Public Health, David Pelletier, Cornell University

Professional Memberships

Member, American Society for Nutrition
Member, Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics
Member, Hunger and Environmental Nutrition dietetic practice group

Languages

English (Native), French (Intermediate)